GUEST SPEAKERS

Georgeina Whelan

Georgeina Whelan knows a disaster when she sees one. In her first fire season as the ACT's Emergency Services Agency commissioner she stepped into the catastrophic conditions that started in late 2019 in Australia's south East and raged into the new year. As the fires were extinguished, the hail came and went and then a global health Pandemic kicked off.

In her role in the frontline of community safety and response and her extensive military career, she has witnessed devastating tragedy and led complex recovery and rebuilding efforts and learnt a lot along the way about resilience and what it takes to dig deep in tough times. Join us as she reflects on lessons learnt from a career in disaster response and how she continues to deliver positive leadership under pressure.

Genevieve Jacobs – MC

Respected journalist, Genevieve Jacobs, will be the MC for the Menslink Business Breakfast once again in 2020. From newspaper journalist, to freelance writer, to presenter, Genevieve is an exceptional talent with an extraordinarily versatile career. Genevieve has freelanced for national magazines and spent a decade with ABC Radio Canberra.

Genevieve is currently the group editor for Region Media, Canberra and the surrounding region's fastest growing source of quality local news and conversation. She leads a committed and talented team committed to independent journalism and is involved with many community organisations and boards in Canberra.

REGISTER YOUR WORKPLACE, BUY YOUR TICKETS AND JOIN OUR LIVE BROADCAST

This year's event is a 'pay what you can afford' ticket to join the broadcast. You set the price. Join as a group at work, tune in if you're working remotely from home and invite your colleagues from interstate who may never get to join our annual business breakfast in person. If your workplace commits to $1,000 or more you will receive acknowledgment during the event and for the rest of the year as a Menslink sponsor. All of the profits from the event go directly to support our programs that have been supporting young men in Canberra since 2002.
